

General Michael Hayden

Former Director of the Central Intelligence Agency

Jeremy C. Stein

Former Governor, Federal Reserve Board

Bill Strickland

CEO & President Manchester Bidwell Corporation

Thursday, October 23, 2014

Welcome Reception

06:00 PM to 09:00 PM
Tucker's Point, Bermuda

Friday, October 24, 2014

After the Taper: The Future of Monetary Policy

08:00 AM to 09:30 AM
Tucker's Point, Bermuda

- Jeremy C. Stein
Former Governor, Federal Reserve Board
Moise Y. Safra Professor of Economics at Harvard University
-

Saturday, October 25, 2014

Investment Roundtable - Group One

10:00 AM to 11:30 AM
Tucker's Point, Bermuda

Sunday, October 26, 2014

Cocktail Reception & Dinner

06:00 PM to 08:30 PM
Tucker's Point, Bermuda

- Bill Strickland
CEO & President
Manchester Bidwell Corporation
-

Monday, October 27, 2014

The 2014 Mid-Term and Beyond: A Discussion on the US Political & Policy Landscape

08:00 AM to 09:30 AM
Tucker's Point, Bermuda

Tuesday, October 28, 2014

Closing Lunch and a Review of the Geopolitical Landscape

12:00 PM to 02:00 PM
Tucker's Point, Bermuda

- General Michael Hayden
Former Director of the Central Intelligence Agency
Former Director of the National Security Agency
-

SPEAKERS

General Michael Hayden

Former Director of the Central Intelligence Agency

Former Director of the National Security Agency

General Michael Hayden is a retired four-star general who served as director of the CIA and the NSA when the course of world events was changing at an accelerating rate. As head of the country's keystone intelligence-gathering agencies, he was on the frontline of geopolitical strife and the war on terrorism. He understands the dangers, risks, and potential rewards of the political, economic, and security situations facing the planet. Exclusively represented by Leading Authorities speakers bureau, General Hayden dissects political situations in hot spots around the world, analyzing the tumultuous global environment and what it all means for the American people and America's interests. He speaks on the delicate balance between liberty and security in intelligence work, as well the potential benefits and dangers associated with the cyber domain. As the former head of two multi-billion dollar enterprises, he can also address the challenges of managing complex organizations in times of stress and the need to develop effective internal and external communications.

At the Center of Central Intelligence. General Hayden became director of CIA in May of 2006, capping a career in service to the United States that included nearly 40 years in the Air Force. He served until 2009. From 2005–2006, General Hayden was the country's first principal deputy director of national intelligence and the highest-ranking military intelligence officer in the country.

From 1999–2005, Hayden had served as the director of the National Security Agency (NSA) and chief of the Central Security Service (CSS) after being appointed by President Bill Clinton. He worked to put a human face on the famously secretive agency, explaining to the American people the role of the NSA and making it more visible on the national scene.

Strategic Command in Dangerous Times. In his nearly 40-year military career, Hayden served as commander of the Air Intelligence Agency and director of the Joint Command and Control Warfare Center. He has also served in senior staff positions at the Pentagon, at the headquarters of the U.S. European Command, at the National Security Council, and the U.S. Embassy in Bulgaria. He also served as deputy chief of staff for the United Nations Command and U.S. Forces in South Korea.

Hayden served as a foreign policy adviser to Mitt Romney's 2012 presidential campaign and has been a frequent expert and commentator on major news outlets and in top publications, valued for his expertise on intelligence matters like cyber security, government surveillance, geopolitics, and more. He was also featured in the HBO documentary Manhunt, which looked at espionage through the eyes of the insiders who led the secret war against Osama bin Laden.

Hayden is currently a principal at the Chertoff Group and a distinguished visiting professor at the George Mason University School of Public Policy. He was also elected to the board of directors of Motorola Solutions in January 2011 and serves on a variety of other boards and consultancies. In 2013, the Intelligence and National Security Alliance (INSA) awarded Hayden the 29th annual William Oliver Baker Award. In 2014 he was the inaugural Humanitas visiting professor in intelligence studies at Oxford University in the United Kingdom.

Jeremy C. Stein

Former Governor, Federal Reserve Board

Moise Y. Safra Professor of Economics at Harvard University

Jeremy C. Stein is the Moise Y. Safra Professor of Economics at Harvard University, where he teaches courses in finance in the undergraduate and PhD programs. From May 2012 to May 2014, he was a member of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

Before coming to Harvard in 2000, Stein was on the finance faculty of M.I.T.'s Sloan School of Management for ten years, most recently as the J.C. Penney Professor of Management. Prior to that, he was an assistant professor of finance at the Harvard Business School from 1987-1990. He received his AB in economics summa cum laude from Princeton University in 1983 and his PhD in economics from M.I.T. in 1986.

Stein's research has covered such topics as: behavioral finance and stock-market efficiency; corporate investment and financing decisions; risk management; capital allocation inside firms; banking; financial regulation; and monetary policy. He has been a co-editor of the Quarterly Journal of Economics, and the Journal of Economic Perspectives and on the editorial boards of several other economics and finance journals.

Stein is a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, a research associate at the National Bureau of Economic Research and a past member of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York's Financial Advisory Roundtable. In 2008, he was president of the American Finance Association. In 2009, he served as a senior advisor to the Treasury Secretary and on the staff of the National Economic Council.

Bill Strickland

CEO & President
Manchester Bidwell Corporation

Bill Strickland has changed lives, restored our faith in ethical leadership, and reshaped the business of social change. As president and CEO of the Manchester Bidwell Corporation—an extraordinary jobs training center and community arts program—he and his staff work with corporations, community leaders, and schools to give disadvantaged kids and adults the opportunities they need to build a better future. (Centers are already running in Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, San Francisco, Grand Rapids, New Haven, Boston, and Buffalo; with many more in the planning stages.)

Recently, Strickland was named as one of the 25 members of the White House Council for Community Solutions by President Obama. And for years now, in front of enraptured audiences, this MacArthur Genius has shared his unshakable message of leadership, self-worth and the intrinsic ability in all of us to achieve remarkable transformation in our lives. He was also honored by the US Senate for his contribution to social innovation.

Strickland is also the author of Make the Impossible Possible, a recipient of The White House's "Coming Up Taller" Award, and the founder of the Grammy-winning MCG Jazz, the most successful jazz subscription series in America.